Public attention

1859 ¹

In 1858 ARENDT was appointed provisionally architecte de l'Etat, while maintaining his job as architecte de district in Grevenmacher. His salary was increased from 800 francs to 1500 francs. This decision by the Government lead to a debate in the Assemblée des Etats, mainly about the legality of the creation of the new position, but also about the favouritism of this decision to the detriment of ARENDT's counterpart in Diekirch.
